

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A carry-on tote bag that can be ridden, more specifically, a baggage scooter for transporting a carrying case or luggage item, additional items, and/or a person. The baggage scooter has a first plate with a wheel or wheels and a retractable handle for holding a carrying case or luggage item, and a selectively deployable second plate with a wheels or wheels, upon which items can be carried or upon which a person can ride in a standing or other position. The baggage scooter may be used with or without a carrying case or luggage item attached. The baggage scooter may include a driving device for moving the baggage scooter. The baggage scooter may be integrally formed to a baggage item or adapted to carry baggage or other items.